Description:	ByeDV aims at implementing already empirically developed recommendations on how to professionally deal with sexualised violence using digital media (SVUDM) against children and adolescents in German counseling practice. By means of an accompanying formative evaluation, quality criteria are to be developed, which are to be understood as a blueprint for European experts in counseling on SVUDM. Data will be collected for the purpose of qualitative analysis and evidence-based conclusions drawing and development of quality criteria.

Introduction

Deliverable No. D4.1 „Webpage“ is part of the work package „Dissemination, Communication and Exploitation“, aiming at spreading ByeDV’s key message „take action against cyber sexual violence“, designing a recognition factor by branding the project logo, providing project information, e.g. objectives and activities, for different target groups, e.g. counselling centers, professionals and practitioners working on mediatized sexualized violence, research and academia, public authorities and general public. This report is on the ByeDV webpage's conception, its structure and main elements. The ByeDV webpage is openly accessible so that the content and the messages of the project can widely reach to the aforementioned target groups.

The webpage contains basic, yet pertinent information about the project ByeDV in general, its objectives and specifications. The knowledge that will be generated during the implementation of the project will be released publicly in a timely fashion.

Publicity is a cornerstone in the ByeDV project, because as well capacity building for relevant professionals working on sexualized violence using digital media against children and adolescents as spreading quality criteria for implementing recommendations for professionally dealing with mediatized sexualized violence are among the fundamental ideas that underlie ByeDV. Therefore, the project webpage is an evolving platform for spreading information on project activities and findings; consequently the content and access to results will be ensured by continuous maintenance and update.

Webpage Access

The ByeDV-EU project webpage is accessible for everyone via the Internet. The selected URL of the webpage allows finding the page easily also via search engines. The most suitable domain name for the purposes of the ByeDV consortium was www.byedv.de. The project webpage is accessible in German and English.

Menu Points

The ByeDV project webpage is distinguished by the following menu points:

- Home
On this page visitors will learn about central key information on ByeDV and both past and upcoming project activities.

- Project

On this page visitors will learn more about the background and goals of ByeDV, the design of the implementation process - including its evaluation. In addition, they will briefly find out the most important information about the recommendations for professionally dealing with sexualized violence using digital media against children and adolescents and the HUMAN project, in the context of which the recommendations were created.

- Materials

Here visitors find publications and other materials on mediatized sexualized violence in general and ByeDV in particular.

- Team

Introductions from the SRH team, the DGfPI e.V. team, the advisory board and the five participating counselling centres can be found on the menu point "Team".

- Contact

Information on how to get in touch with the project team are provided on this page.

The webpage of the ByeDV project smoothly directs visitors to its different parts while at the same time offering contact and copyright information at the footer and/or header.

Maintenance and Administration

The project webpage is a precious tool for communication, dissemination and awareness raising about the ByeDV project. Therefore, actively managing data and controlling information via the webpage during the project's lifespan is a collaborative effort of the partners in responsibility of SRH University Heidelberg. Ibadete Sefedini, SI Webdesign, is the developer and the main administrator of the project webpage. Katharina Kärger und Frederic Vobbe (SRH University Heidelberg) will support the maintenance and administration of ByeDV's webpage. Legal issues, data protection and site notice has been duly considered and been implemented on the webpage.
